

EndNote for Systematic Reviews

Education and Research Services

UTS Library

UTS Library

Acknowledgment of Country

I would like to acknowledge the Gadigal people of the Eora Nation upon whose ancestral lands our City campus now stands. I would also like to pay respect to the Elders both past and present, acknowledging them as the traditional custodians of knowledge for this land.

Privacy Disclaimer

This session will be recorded

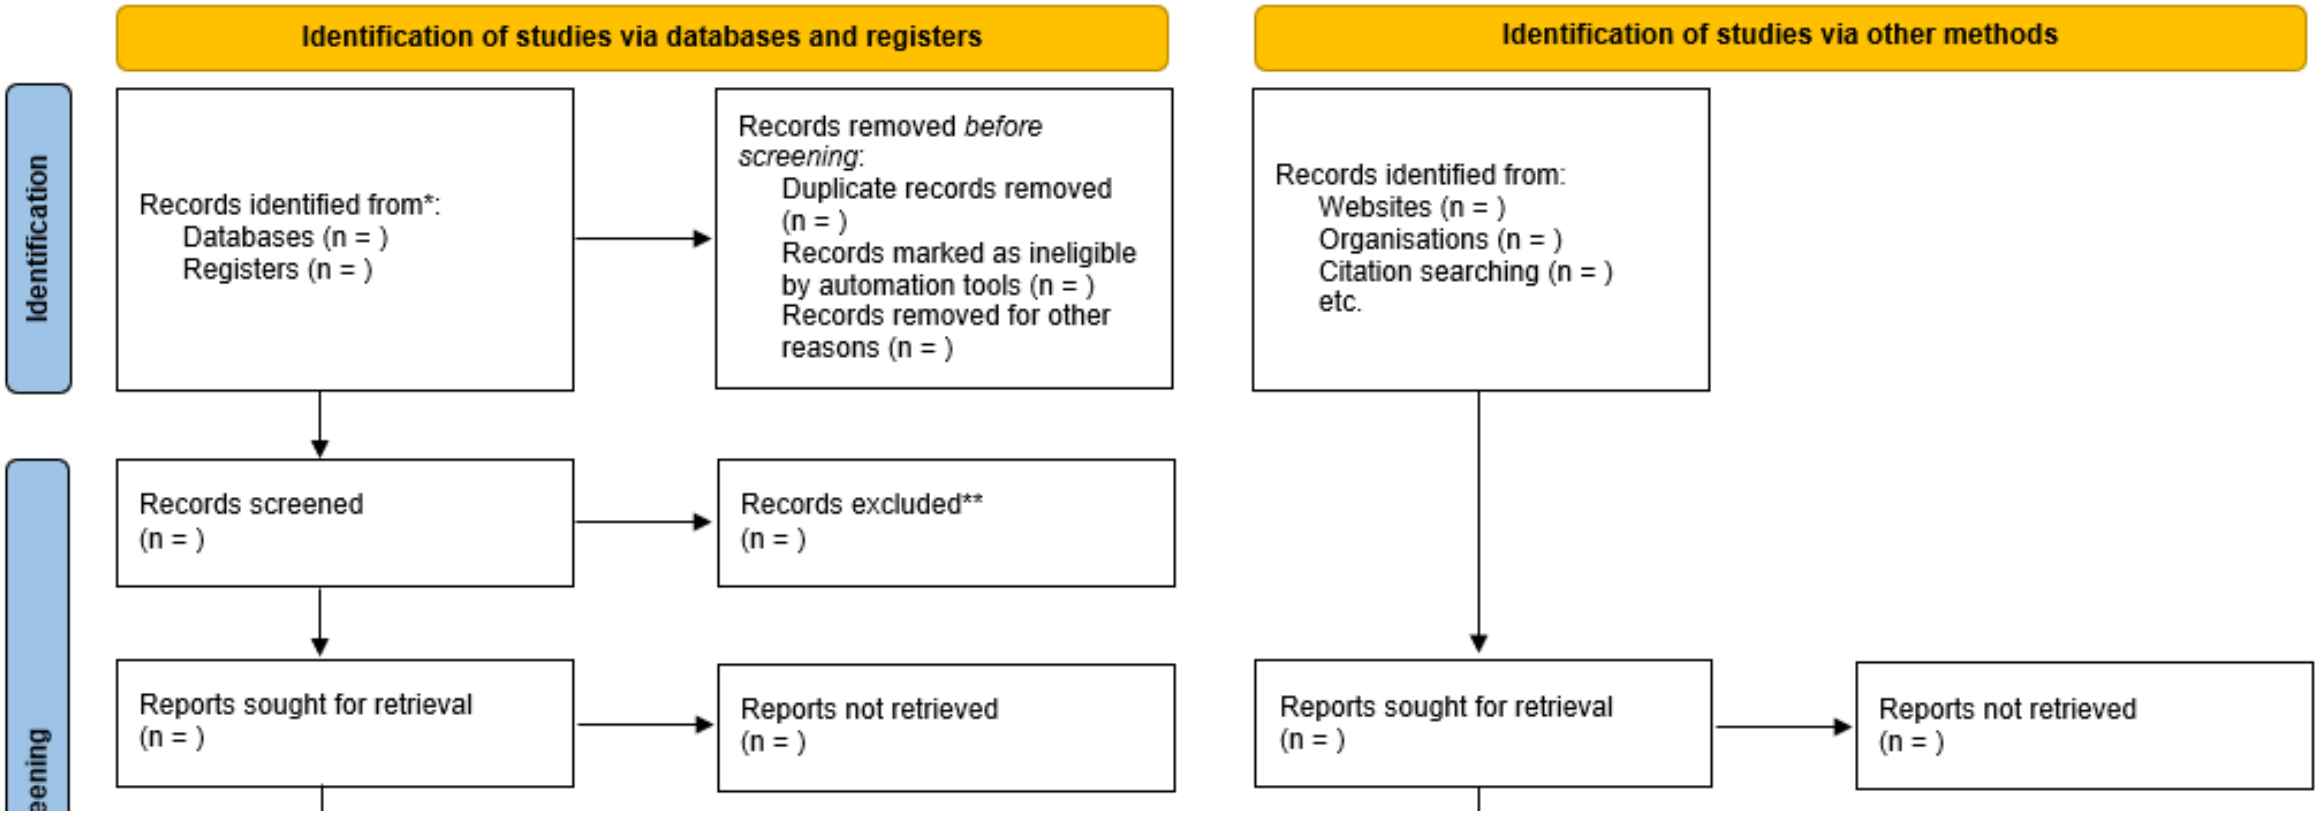

- This workshop will be recorded and uploaded to Zoom.
- A link to this recording will be sent to all registered workshop participants as well as any UTS staff or student who requests to view this content.
- If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile, video image or voice recorded, please keep your camera off, do not use a profile image and keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the chat feature - which allows you to type questions and comments live.
- If you have any concerns, please contact us: Faculty.Librarians@uts.edu.au

What we'll do today

- Follow the systematic review methodology as laid out in the PRISMA flowchart by:
- Exporting all search results from two databases to EndNote and placing them into groups
  - Deduplicating our results
  - Manually adding an 'Other Methods' reference
  - Backing up versions of your EndNote library
  - Using the Find full-text function
  - Creating an export file from the EndNote library for screening software (e.g. Covidence or Rayyan)

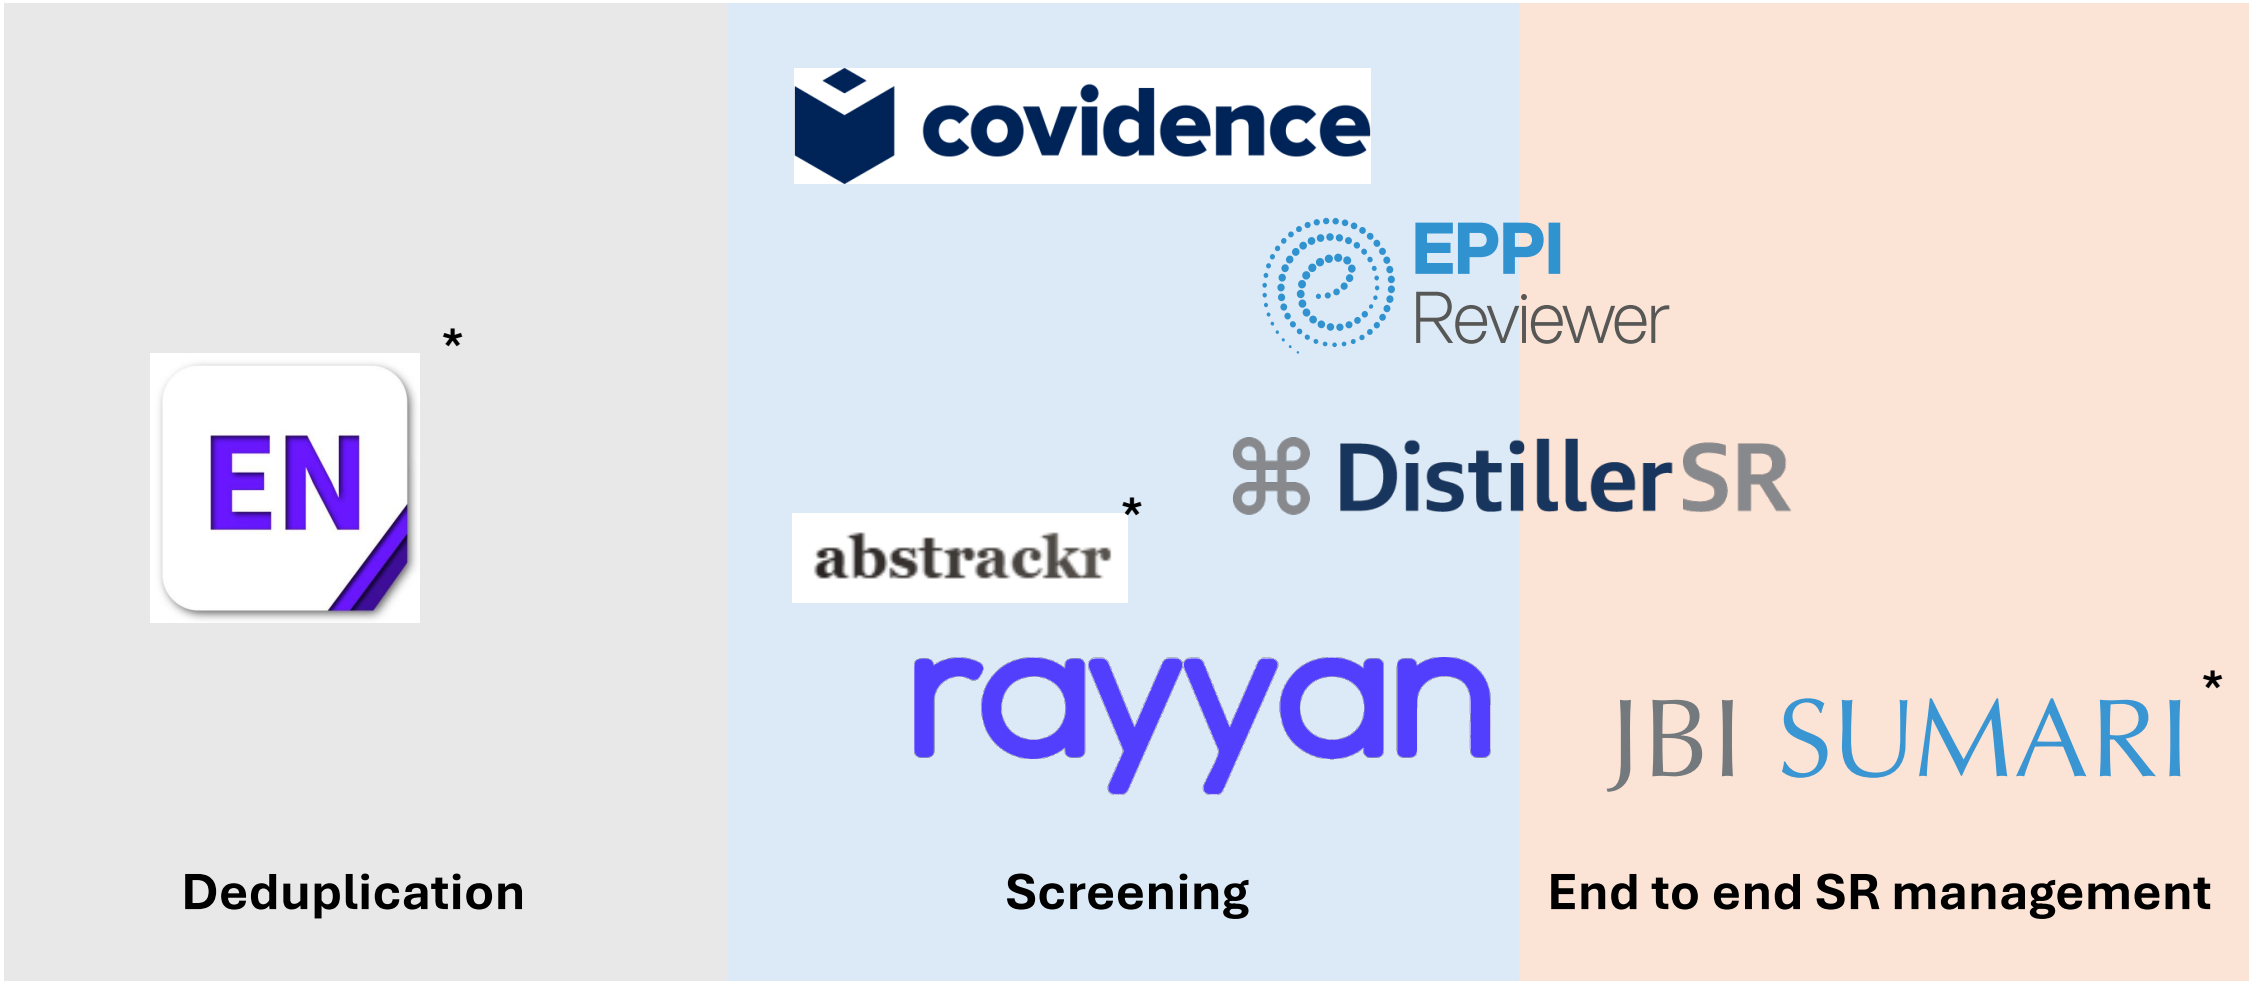

PRISMA Flow Chart

Generate a PRISMA Flow Diagram

There are multiple tools you can use

Comparison of software for SRs

*available via UTS or free

Links from the class

- PRISMA flowchart / RShiny Editable PRISMA flowchart
- EndNote for Systematic Reviews – UTS Library EndNote study guide
- Deduplicating EndNote results – London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine
- Downloading large record sets for systematic reviews – UTS Library
- How to enter references manually into EndNote for APA 7th – UTS Library
- Using find full text in EndNote – UTS Library
- Contact a librarian

